AMENDMENT TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the Abstract with the following:

~~The present invention provides a~~ A user interface for a hand-held device is provided that allows users to activate the full "card" for an entry using one gesture on a button while also giving the user the ability to reach a menu of context dependent commands using a second gesture on a button. In particular, ~~the present invention recognizes~~ certain button inputs are recognized as context menu gestures. When these gestures are made, a context menu appears. The user is then able to select a command in the context menu that is to be performed. ~~The present invention also allows a~~A user is also allowed to open context menus while only using one hand to operate and hold the device.